EDISON, NJ - AUGUST 2010

When I hosted a Home & Garden Party in September of 2001, I never dreamed it would change my life. I fell in love with the product and was thrilled to get so many beautiful items for FREE! Without any prior direct sales experience, I joined the company in April of 2002 because I was asked and thought it would be a fun way to make extra money. I can still remember my mom's reaction, "Are you crazy?" But little did we all know how rewarding it would be and how special my business would be in my life.

Socially, during the past eight years, I have made many close friends that I would have never met before I was involved with the company. These include Designers, Hostesses and Customers. The close relationships I have with fellow Designers is due in great part to attending Rallies for the past seven years. Aside from the great training, it is so much fun to bond with the girls and create special memories. In fact, I have so many pictures that I've completed a scrapbook of my past six years with the company and am working on a second!

Being part of this company has allowed me to travel to places I would have never visited. I've dined in Canada overlooking Niagara Falls; country danced at the Wild Horse Saloon in Nashville; ate a Texas steak in Dallas, played the slots in Las Vegas; and took my first cruise ever! It was a dream come true to earn that trip. I shopped in Key West, danced on the beach in Jamaica and swam with sting rays in Grand Cayman – what an experience!

Personally, I have grown in many ways. Before becoming a Designer I really didn't feel comfortable with public speaking and working my business has helped me come out of my shell and gain confidence in my abilities to be an assertive business woman. Being an Executive Leader is an important role for me as I feel a responsibility to support and encourage my team while always staying positive. It is rewarding to be able to share the Opportunity with other women so they too can make their dreams come true. It puts a smile on my face to see the excitement of my Hostesses when they get FREE products, or when I can help organizations like school bands with their travel and Ladies Auxiliaries raise extra funds for the community.

Financially, working my business has allowed me and my husband to pay off my Ford Escape, have a debt-free Christmas every year, and most significantly, it gave me financial freedom throughout my maternity leave from teaching. My son, Jack, was born in November of 2008, which was my greatest dream come true. Having money set aside from my business allowed me to take the remainder of the school year off to be home with him. I am very proud to be able to do this for my family. Since my husband and I are trying to save money, I only use Celebrating Home income for splurges like manicures, lunch with friends, shopping trips to the mall – and I don't hesitate to treat my mom, who watches Jack every day, to special things. If I didn't have my business, I would feel like I couldn't afford to spend anything but on the necessities. My family has been so supportive and encouraging of my business and I wouldn't have been able to accomplish what I have without them. Our long-term dream is to move to a larger house and I know by working my Celebrating Home business that this dream will become a reality.

I wouldn't call myself average, but think I represent the "average" Designer. I, like many Designers, work my business in addition to working another job and got into this business to make extra money for my family. I teach high school and am a wife and mother. Some days it is very hard to balance everything. I am not at the top in sales or recruiting but I am proud of my business. I am dedicated to my team and I am faithful to Celebrating Home. I thank God every day for the blessings I receive through this company and look forward to many more years of success, growth and happiness!
