

LISA FILLINGER BEDFORD, OH - AUGUST 2010

My husband was diagnosed with brain cancer in October of 2006. He had a ten-hour surgery to remove the tumor on his motor and sensory function area and then went through a six-week aggressive radiation process. We had insurance but the co-pays were outrageous and amounted to about $15,000. Due to the place where the tumor was located on his brain he is no longer able to work and must be on disability. Needless to say our income was cut to only mine and a small portion of what he gets monthly. With me being the only one with a job we were buried under doctor bills, credit card bills and maintenance medications.

In December of 2008 my mother invited to me to a Party that my hairdresser was having. I really did not want to go but she insisted. Am I glad she did! I listened to the Designer, watched the video at the beginning of her presentation, really liked the product she had, and I was intrigued by the commission. By the end of the evening I had signed up as a Designer and began an adventure of a lifetime!

When I started booking Parties I really only wanted to do about 2-3 per month but I ended up doing about 6-14 a month. I can say that God has truly blessed my business! In the time that I have been with Celebrating Home, I have paid all but one doctor bill and that one bill that does remain is about $400.00. I have met wonderful women, formed great friendships and have a booming business. I have one group of Hostesses who call themselves "Lisa's Groupies"!

Did I also mention that I earned the Alaskan cruise? Celebrating Home has been such a blessing from God. I truly am glad that I went to that Party with my mom!
